Birthday

We are twenty-two years old today!

Few cities of 30,000 population can claim the youth of Richmond.

Few cities with Richmond's youth can claim her advantages.

Twenty-two years ago today the few residents that lived in the little cluster of houses on the Point and the "mud flats" became imbued with civic consciousness and decided to incorporate. They petitioned the county board of supervisors, but the first two petitions were unsuccessful. The third which cut the boundaries sought in the first petitions was approved by the supervisors. Later by a series of annexations the present boundaries of the city were reached.

In twenty-two years the city incorporated by these far-seeing men has grown to rank fourth in the state's industrial centers; fourth port on the Pacific Coast and fourth payroll city in the state.

Police Judge C. A. Odell and his father, the late A. Odell, drew up the papers for incorporating the city. E. J. Garrard a present member of the city council called to order the first meeting of the first board of trustees after the city had been incorporated. The five trustees of this board were: Garrard, Frank Critchett, Thomas Kenny, S. R. Curry and S. F. Babcocok.

In the past few years the city has taken definite steps toward assuring growth that will exceed that of the past. With the completion of a harbor the equal of any on the Pacific Coast and the bringing to the city industries needed for assured growth and progress, the next twenty-two years will place her in the metropolitan class.

Besides being a city of industries, Richmond is a residential city enjoying the best advantages to be found elsewhere without experiencing climatic and other disadvantages. Our social, educational and religious advantages surpass those of many larger cities. On the whole Richmond has much upon which to congratulate herself on this, our twenty-second birthday.

Richmond Man Kills Mountain Lion On Deer Expedition

C. H. Hunt, local groceryman, has returned to Richmond from a hunting trip, bringing back with him a mountain lion. Hunt declared that he shot the lion, which measured seven feet, eight inches, after it had killed a doe.

With Hunt on the trip to Mendocino county were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sorrenson of Berkeley and Grover Hunter of Oakland. The party brought back two bucks in addition to the lion.

Rev. Haney Returns From Vacation

Rev. Earl W. Haney, who with Mrs. Haney returned to Richmond yesterday from a vacation spent in Oregon and at Mt. Hermon, will occupy his pulpit at both morning and evening services of the First Presbyterian church today.

SATISFYING ECONOMY

Pans, kittles and pots which absorb, distribute and hold heat and cook without waste, and the usual danger of burning, and clean easily and perfectly, are a real convenience. Knives that hold an edge and have a comfortable handle. Hardware is a specialized business. You make sure of getting those things which will please and last when you consult the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

Bonds

That the proposed harbor bonds issued is a "good thing" for Richmond seems to be proven by the fact that the Richmond Church Fellowship is giving active support to it.

A plan now is under way by which there will be delivered from the pulpit of every Protestant church in Richmond at the same hour on the Sunday morning before the election a message to the people voicing the faith of the ministers in the measure.

George P. Glineberg is working on a plan that has this culmination for its objective.

Ministers in this city who already have informed the campaign committee that they will do anything that is necessary and proper, include to date: Rev. Weldon Wilson, of the First Baptist; Rev. M. H. Greenlee, of the Community M. E. South; Rev. W. P. Grant of the First M. E.; Rev. Henry K. Sanborne of the Stege Presbyterian.

Rev. Charles G. Lindemann, of the Wesley M. E. church; Rev. Earl W. Haney of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Aubrey Wilson, of the First Presbyterian church; and Rev. W. P. Grant of the First Methodist church.

Assurances are given to the campaign committee that within a few days acceptances may be expected from all the ministers who belong to the Fellowship and who shall have returned from their vacations. . .

These ministers realize that under modern conditions pew occupants look to their pastors to discuss all things that pertain to good citizenship. The popular and militant churches of the country; the ones where men and women must go early in order to obtain seats, are the ones in which the pulpiteers take hold of and discuss all the phases of 20th century's complex civilization.

In addition to the co-operation of the churches, the committee know now that numerous outstanding civic and fraternal organizations are giving the very heartiest endorsement to Richmond's efforts for marine expression, if you please.

Learn this slogan: "Let's Make it Unanimous."

ARMED GUARDS PATROL HOME OF PRESIDENT

Police At War Strength As Plots Suspected In New York

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Many of the large industrial cities of the United States were under guard tonight to foil further bombings by sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti.

In New York there were as many policemen and special officers on duty as there were during the war.

ARMED GUARDS

The protection here was city wide with armed guards at every subway and elevated station, all public buildings, churches, banks, theaters, railroad terminals and homes of high officials.

Similar precautions were taken in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities. Even out in the Black Hills of South Dakota there was extra vigilance on the part of the men who protect President Coolidge so that he would not be annoyed by possible allies of the two avowed anarchists who have been condemned to die in Boston next Wednesday night for the murder of a paymaster seven years ago.

RESULT OF BLAST

All these precautions were taken as a result of the bombing of two subway stations here last night, the bombing of a church in Philadelphia and the bombing of the home of the mayor of Baltimore.

Twenty persons were injured here in the blasts that tore the walls out of the subway stations, ripped up sidewalks on the streets above and shattered windows for blocks around. The home of Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore was partly demolished and the

GOLD COMPANY ELECTS HEADS

Officers for the ensuing year were elected yesterday when the stockholders of the Wonder gold mine met in the offices of the company at Sixth street and Macdonald avenue.

George R. Kibbe, public accountant, was present and made a report of the financial condition of the organization. He stated that the financial affairs of the books and accounts of the concern for the past four years had been honestly and efficiently handled.

Superintendent Paul Peoples, who came down from the mine to be present at the meeting, brought with him samples of ore blasted the previous day which proved to be rich in free gold. The former board of directors was re-elected unanimously and after the meeting adjourned elected officers for the coming year. John Q. Black was chosen president, H. B. Kinney of Oakland vice-president, and J. R. McClure secretary-treasurer. Approximately fifty stockholders of the organization were present at the meeting and declared themselves satisfied with the financial report presented. F. J. Hulaniski, president of the company since its incorporation, declined to continue in office, owing to poor health.

Robber Denies Other Crimes

Denying that he had staged other holdups in the Richmond Annex district, Fred Cunningham of San Francisco will appear for hearing in Martinez tomorrow morning to answer to a charge of attempted robbery lodged against him by Clyde Laird, chief of the county liquor squad.

He has indicated that he will plead guilty to the charge. Cunningham was arrested Thursday morning in El Cerrito when he attempted to hold up Laird. A hand to hand struggle followed with the officer gaining possession of the gun. The bandit then attempted to flee. Laird fired when the bandit attempted to flee and stopped him with a bullet in the leg.

Hint Arson Plot At El Cerrito

Partial destruction by fire yesterday morning of a residence at 624 Richmond street, El Cerrito, owned by John Bilky of Florin, resulted in issuance by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey of a John Doe warrant charging arson. Frank Walsh, assistant fire chief at El Cerrito, swore to the complaint.

Bilky was arrested in Sacramento yesterday and is being held for investigation.

Firemen who saved the forward portions of the home from destruction found oil soaked papers and cartons with burning candles in them giving evidence of the premeditated intention to destroy the building. At the rear of the house, which was badly burned, kerosene cans were discovered.

Bilky, the owner, has resided near Florin for the last year. The home has been unoccupied for the last three weeks.

Arrange For New Sign Near El Cerrito

The Richmond-San Rafael ferry company and the El Cerrito City Council are completing negotiations for the erection of a new and higher sign across San Pablo avenue at Cutting boulevard.

The south side of the sign will carry directions to the ferry and the north side, the name "El Cerrito." The change was agreed upon when it was pointed out that the name "Richmond" confused motorists into thinking they were in Richmond before the El Cerrito city limits had been reached.

The present sign is 17 feet above the street and the new sign will in all probability be 22 feet above the roadway with a new sign will guard against the sign being blown dwn in heavy winds.

LEASE OF CITY WATERFRONT TO BE ACTED UPON

Action Marks Last Step In Confirmation Of Franchise Bill

Marking the final step in the march of Richmond's progress toward the full development of its waterfront under the Parr lease, which has brought the Ford Motor company to Richmond with a $5,000,000 plant plan, the city council is prepared to act on a resolution confirming the act of Governor C. C. Young in signing the 50-year harbor franchise bill for the City of Richmond, the Chamber of Commerce and every civic organization and progressive citizen, at its meeting tomorrow night.

EASLEY BILL

The legislature adopted the measure prepared by City Attorney T. M. Carlson and presented by Assemblyman Robert P. Easley which gave Richmond the right to lease its waterfront facilities for a term of 50 years providing there was nothing in the municipal charter to the contrary, and providing further that in so doing none of the rights of the City of Richmond or the State of California in municipal waterfront lands were jeopardized.

"MERE FORMALITY"

Governor Young signed the bill and it is now on the statute books of California. Action of the city council Monday night is thought a mere formality but is recognized as a necessary step to carry out the moral obligations incorporated in the Parr terminal franchise and the Ford agreement to purchase a plant site and to construct a plant to cost not less than $2,000,000 but which has subsequently been announced as representing $5,000,000 initial investment.

Shell Dislodged From Throat Of War Vet

Wounded in thirty-five places by a spray of shrapnel while he was fighting at the front in the Chateau Thiery sector nine years ago, Eygil Heltzen, Standard Oil employe, yesterday coughed up a fragment as large as the forefinger, as a remembrance of the time when his life hung in the balance with several pieces of shell lodged so close to vital organs that doctors did not dare operate.

Heltzen said that he suddenly began to sneeze and felt something drop in the back of his throat. He coughed and the shrapnel came out.

Heltzen was in the third division during the war. He has recovered almost completely from his wounds although he has been sent to the Mayo clinic twice since the war for treatment. He is an efficient worker and can cry "fore" with the best of them.

COOLIDGE

The President of the United States proves his capacity for remaining in touch with the common man when he expresses his "choice" relative to a 1928 candidacy and says that choice is negative.

Mr. Coolidge is not inflated by the power that he has been called on to wield. Unlike many who have the ambition to run for president and can never entirely eliminate it from their system, he who has enjoyed the power and undergone the toil of the executive post, knows that there is little enough once the honor has been achieved, to keep a man long in the fight for the job.

The announcement at the summer White House was surprising only because it was not known why the president should elect this particular time for his statement. He has entertained a preference for private life for some time and would have so stated except that he wisely concluded to give the scheming aspirants as little sanction as possible for their disruptive activities during the closing two years of the elective term. Anyone who has assessed Mr. Coolidge truly has known that he was not overwhelmingly grasping at the office which a turn of fate gave him and which his people kept in his hands.

Mr. Coolidge will want to leave the presidency and the republican party in good shope. He has some months to serve and likely can do a great deal in that period. Farm relief can easily be accomplished, or set on the road to accomplishment in that time and possible even the ambitious project of a new naval limitation treaty.

But the political situation out in the sticks will not be amended by the declaration. Perhaps the president feels that his statement of his personal preferences will open the way for healthful discussion of candidates. That discussion can be beneficial if widely participated in, and of no great use if confined to the quarrels of leaders and would-be leaders. The refusal of the president to add to his laconic statement should not be misinterpreted. There are a lot of ways in which he can indicate from time to time the wishes that surround his main purpose of remaining out of the contest.

Experience is what you get when you least expect it.—Atlanta Constitution.

Sunlight Works Woders In Flat Or Apartment

People who live in glass houses are lucky for they can see the sunlight. Those who live in dreary apartments bereft of sunlight owing to being crowded closely against other buildings must have a change of indoor scenery during the summer months.

Wherever the summer vacationist can cover up furnishings with drab linen slip covers, the person who remains within four walls from season to season must have rest for the eyesight if not for the body. They must bring summer sunlight into the home by literally filling the place with summer colors.

Yesterday I visited a small cubby-hole of a ground floor apartment occupied by a young artist and his wife. I had seen this apartment in winter, and its darkness combined with the gloominess of its antique Italian furnishings was appalling. I wondered how any one of an artistic nature could choose such a place. Now, however, it has been turned into one of the most attractive and delightfully restful places that I have seen.

The windows of the studio room which open on a courtyard were curtained with gold theatrical gauze, appliqued with cretonne trees at the hem. They had rummaged about the shops for cretonnes with tree designs and appliqued the trees on the gauze so cleverly that when one looked through the curtains toward the courtyard one seemed to see yellow sunlight through shadowy trees. No side curtains were used.

A large couch covered in an old bronze green chintz was piped in burnt orange and further enhanced by a violet hued chintz end pillow. Opposite this, a large, overstuffed chair had a slip cover of old gold cotton damask. At the larger corner of the room a large highly polished copper bowl held a mass of varicolored shell flowers of 10-cent store variety. Above an old fireplace the wall space was covered with a mauve cretonne in sky design with flying pheasants. Owing to the darkness of the room this added a bit of apparent sky and seemed to bring brightness.

When one has sunlight, colors need not be as gay as where rooms are dark.

SILK FRINGE LEADS

Silk fringed gowns outnumber beaded fringed models for evening wear.

White and pastel shades rule supreme at present. Pinkish tones are second in preference to white. Gowns trimmed in self-fabric outnumber other models. Chiffons, crepe satins and georgettes are the favored summer evening materials.

One notices an absence of elaborate jewelry during the summer months.

How To Earn Money at Home.

By Sara Spence

I am very handy with the needle and also have a talent for designing odd novelties. Could you suggest a way whereby I might turn my talents into money?—HELEN T., Tennessee.

The fad for wearing flowers and boutonnieres on every conceivable occasion should offer a splendid field for your gifts. I have a friend who is making up original little boutonnieres and doing an excellent business with them. Bunches of brightly colored wool flowers (crocheted), designed to wear with tailored and sports clothes she sells for $1 a bunch. The more ideas you are able to create for novel flowers of all kinds the better chance you will have of selling them. There are felt flowers, so smart for the tailored suit; silk flowers, organdie flowers—in fact, there is no limit when one possesses ideas and the ability to carry out these ideas.

I have made up two dozen smocks of linen in pretty colors. I think I can find a market for them, but do not know how much to charge.—PHYLLIS.

These should sell for about $1 each. Of course, in the sale of smocks, as in the sale of any other homemade garment, the quality and cost of material must be considered. A safe rule is to double the cost of the material and set your sale price at this figure.

I live in a small town, within easy commuting distance of a big city. I have an old fashioned garden full of lovely flowers all summer. Don't you think I should be abe to make a little money selling flowers in the city?—SUE.

Visit some of the tea rooms and offer to deliver fresh flowers for the tables every other day. Restaurants, also, are usually glad to buy flowers at reasonable prices. Perhaps you can arrange to supply the floral decorations for weddings, etc., in your town. Later you might be able also to build up a nice market for seedlings. Select the more hardy perennials, especially those of the old-fashioned garden variety, that can be dug up and transplanted with safety.

Mrs. Sarah Spence will answer all questions on "How to Earn Money at Home." Address her care of this paper.

What Your FACE TELLS

©c. 1927- by Betty Morrison PSY.D.

The individual with head and features like this illustration did not get it all from his mother's side of the family. "As a man thinketh, so is he." Of course, we do inherit some things, but the way we think and live is constantly molding our faces and forms.

This man is ruled by appetite and passions, has a strong animalistic nature, powerful body and much physical strength.

Cares little if his ancestors were ground dwelling men or hopped directly out of the branches. Spends little time in thinking about anything, for he is largely governed by his feelings. He is hard headed and a hard bargainer.

He likes to argue and nothing appeals to him more than a good scrap. He fights with and for the whole neighborhood. Speaks in a gruff, firm tone in dictatorial manner and must have attention if he has to get it with a club. He is very domineering, regulates the time and maneuvers all around him, breaks the law occasionally, and settles everything out of court.

He is lacking in kindness and courtesy. Has very few friends and is not loyal to them.

He likes horse racing, prize fights, wrestling matches and women. Is interested in money and anything that will produce it.

A seeker of self satisfaction. Starts the day with hot cakes, apple butter, fried sausage, gravy, potatoes, eggs, half pumpkin pie and four cups of coffee. No raw foods for him.

To favorably impress him act and talk in a convincing, persuasive manner, but not in a dogmatical way. He quickly resents any attempt to force him to decision or action. That which vitally interests him is his own immediate advantage. Let him feel he is having his own way.

He should work where there is little change, where the adoption of new ideas are unnecessary. He would make a good gang boss, lumberman, seaman or timber jack.

If he will use his strength and energy to do good for all mankind it will react to his benefit and consequently carry him to greater lengths than he could ever hope to go on his own narrow path of selfishness.

Satiny Skin Only Grows On A Physical Culture Body

By LADY BEATRICE GREY

(Advice in this column is confined strictly to natural methods.)

The skin is a very complex organism. Just like the eyes or the ears, it has a definite function to perform, and healthy, glowing complexion exists when it is performing that function properly.

In the first place, your skin acts as a covering for the more delicate structures beneath; but it is a layer-like structure, each layer having its distinct work to do. A certain amount of elimination passes out of the body through the skin—hence if the pores are clogged an unhealthy skin and body can only be the result. Your skin breathes just as your lungs do, but, of course, in a far lesser proportion. Consequently you can see how important it is that your skin be kept in perfect condition.

First of all, to have a good skin you must have a healthy constitution. You must live right. This means proper food, clothing, exercise, sleep, fresh air and sunlight.

You cannot abuse your body by feeding it rich, indigestible foods and expect your skin to be satiny and smooth. You cannot expect to have a wholesome, healthy glow to your skin if you starve your system and deprive it of the vitalizing air. Unless you exercise and keep your circulation up you cannot expect to have that ruddy glow of youth on your cheek.

Frances, Manhattan: If your teeth are inclined to be soft, you should see that your body is being supplied with plenty of alkali. Tomatoes and oranges are good tooth food. Whole wheat bread, baked potatoes eaten skins and all, fruits and vegetables are all good. You should watch carefully that no decay even of the tiniest nature appears.

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOVE MILES

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Picturization of this novel

SYNOPSIS

Fabien, good and handsome young Duke of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beauteous orphan, whose rascally brother, realizing her worldly value, barters her to Ravoir, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris, where they live happily together. Manon's brother steals her for Ravoir; she escapes, and searches vainly for Fabien. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoir. Fabien, thinking her perfidious, returns to his priestly studies. Manon resolves to see him.

Manon had never been able to understand Fabien's cruelty to her that night at the Gambling Club. It seemed as though he should have appreciated that the situation her brother created was a million times harder for her to live than for him to think about. Yet he gave her contempt instead of compassion!

At the close of the service on the day before Fabien was to take his final vows, he knelt in prayer. A wonderful, spiritual expression transfigured his features. After a year of shattering conflict supreme peace was his and before another sun had set he was prepared to relinquish all worldly pleasures and become a Priest.

Rising from prayer with the little book in his hands he reverently passed the altar just as an altar boy snuffed out the last candle and went on his way. The Church was deserted save for Fabien. The last rays from the setting sun streamed in through the jeweled stained glass windows and mingled their beauty with the mystery of heavy incense and the deep stillness of the great auditorium.

On his way out Fabien paused before the image of Mary Magdalen. The beautiful features made a shadow fall across his serene face, because she reminded him of Manon. And why shouldn't she? Mary Magdalen had been forgiven by One far greater than he! Fabien closed his eyes in an effort to blot out both the image and the thought.

Advancing down the corridor he glimpsed a silhouette in the shadows and as he drew nearer, the figure came within the radiance of a window. Fabien stood as still as if a barrier had stopped his progress. It was Manon!

CHAPTER XIV

More bewitching than ever, Manon was enveloped in a long cloak with the hood covering her hair. She was tremulous, uncertain, even humble, yet still so young and dove-like that her beauty beggared all description.

Fabien was like one enchanted. He felt it must be some trickery—Manon, of all people in the world, alone with him in the church when he had given up all idea of ever seeing her again.

Unable to divine the purpose of her visit, he waited, trembling, not daring to look at her. For a moment her embarrassment was equal to his own, then she realized that he had no intention of breaking the silence and murmured tremulously, "Fabien."

Her appeal brought forth only a stern and set expression to his face. He did not even raise his eyes.

Manon continued, beseechingly: "I saw your name posted for examinations and attended all week in the hope of seeing you. Fabien, dear, I must talk with you—my heart has been broken!" The tears fell unheeded. "You are thinking unfair things of me. I could not help what I did. My brother and the Comte forced me into that hideous situation. I was powerless. They told me that you would be arrested for abduction and that I could save you only by leaving. But I went back to our room and was told that you never wanted to see me again. I have never ceased loving you."

Unwilling to hear more, Fabien turned away. Manon stopped her explanation and watched him with tragic eyes. His entire manner indicated that he was through with her. It was more than she could bear.

"Fabien!" The cry came from a broken heart.

As Manon took a step toward him her cloak fell back revealing her lovely neck and arms covered with jewels. On her white wigged head reposed a diamond circlet that sparkled in rainbow colors, reflecting the setting sun as it streamed through the great stained glass window. Her white satin gown stood out vividly against the dark background of the cloister. There she stood, alluring, her tempting lips parted appealingly, her charming figure revealed in all its slender perfection. The fresh fragrance of her personality, mingled with the subtle perfume from her hair and gown, affected Fabien like a stimulant and made his senses whirl madly, driving the pounding blood through his dormant veins.

Manon approached and Fabien watched her as though hypnotized, but when her hands stole up to his shoulders he awakened from his trance with a start and pushed her away.

"Woman!" he cried scathingly. "You are as guilty as the hell you come from." His eyes blazed with a holy and righteous anger against this woman whose touch made him forget his duty and think only of the world, the flesh and her!

Manon remained motionless during his condemnation, but she sobbed in agony when he turned away and went out into the garden, like a Saint madly fighting the devil.

Manon gathered up her cloak and followed. "I cannot blame you," she said simply, her eyes soft with love and adoration. "All you say of me is probably true—but I love you so!"

The words were like a lash across Fabien's face and he retaliated by demanding harshly: "What about your lover—the man who buys all these jewels and decks you in satin gowns?" He indicated her expensive attire with a gesture of disgust.

"I am no longer with him," she replied hopefully, then continued: "I hated him and left his house as soon as I could manage to escape—I have not even seen him for months."

"Then who are you with now, to give you all these things?" Fabien was still contemptuous as he indicated her jewels.

"Fabien!" Manon was hurt and shocked. "No one, you should know that. The Comte had given them to me, so I took them away." When she saw the effect of her words she added regretfully, "I am sorry, Fabien, but I shall always love jewels and beautiful clothes."

Fabien realized the utter helplessness of the situation. She was not to blame after all. Neither was it wrong for a woman to crave pretty things. He found himself regretting that he had not been the one to lavish luxuries upon her!

"Fabien, why should we be unhappy all the rest of our lives? We know that we were made only for each other and if you refuse me I shall die and you will never know a moment's peace." Manon was pleading for Fabien's love, to her the only worth while thing in the world.

"Leave—I never want to see you again!" he said sternly.

"You don't mean that. You couldn't! You are being cruel to yourself and to me. I know you love me or I never would have come here to save us both from everlasting misery. Fabien!" with a little moan Manon clung to Fabien, pleading with her body as she had pleaded with her voice and heart. But when she felt no response she sank helplessly to the ground and leaned against his knees. She pressed close and reaching up grasped his arm with both hands and stroked it lovingly. "Please . . . dear . . .!" she implored.

Gradually Fabien relaxed. He could not muster sufficient courage to meet her eyes, but he knew she was there—he felt her presence! with clenched hands forced straight down at his sides he raised his face in prayer.

Looking up, Manon saw and understood that she had not won him back. She fell in a crumpled heap at his feet. Her face was almost on the ground as she cried piteously, "You are my one friend; if you send me away, what will become of me?"

Unable to resist such a truly feminine appeal for protection Fabien looked slowly upon her as she bowed there at his feet. With a start there came to him the resemblance between her attitude and that of the image of Mary Magdalen. His expression softened as he encountered the look of adoration and worship in her upturned face.

CARE OF BUICK IS REDUCED BY OVER ONE HALF

The element of speed has become a conspicuous factor in the present day motor car does not wholly apply now to miles per hour. The Buick engineers in the models for 1928 which have been creating new sales records since their introduction here by C. C Kratzer, local dealer, have carried the speed idea into the care of the car itself.

"While retaining the 70-mile-an-hour speed for the cars themselves and greatly increasing performances on the get-away, the Buick now is fast in the garage too," explained Kratzer. "By that I mean this—the time required for the proper care of a Buick has been reduced to half.

"The old days of crawling underneath a car to properly grease it are gone as far as the new Buick is concerned. Yet the Buick engineers have retained the highly desirable feature of positive lubrication for all the more inaccessible points. That has been done by taking away the inaccessibility. Instead of crawling underneath now all that is necessary is to open a little trap door on each side of the car just above the running boards. Here the lubrication connections have been clustered.

"Each connection has a small pipe running to the bearing to be lubricated. It is a simple matter to 'hit' each one now. And at other points ,especially in the rear, the same system has been adapted so the entire car may be thoroughly lubricated without the clothes-soiling process that has been necessary these many years heretofore.

"While the cars themselves have special appeal to women this year, this feature alone will strike the fancy of the men folks who have the disagreeable greasing job to do. And it is noteworthy that this lubricating system, as with every other mechanical improvement, has been installed on all omdels throughout the entire price range.

"Buick engineers last year, by triple-sealing the valve-in-head motor made oil changes infrequent. Now comes this further advance in the simpler and more cleanly care of the car."

Tests made at the Howard building show that only half the time and only a very small fraction of the patience is needed in lubricating the new Buicks. In fact, it was shown that a woman driver who never before attempted such a job thoroughly greased a car in less time with the new system than would have been required by an expert on previous models.

Chevrolet Car Output So Far Equal To That Of Last Year

Chevrolet production for July raised the total volume for the first seven months of this year to nearly on a par with its entire output for 1926, in which year Chevrolet established an all-time production record for the manufacture of gear shift cars, according to figures released by Harry G. Golden Company, local dealers.

Production for the month, just ended totaled 89,569 units, as against 50,993 units for July, 1926, an increase of 67 per cent over February, 1926.

July volume brings production for the first seven months of this year of 697,318 units; whereas in the entire year of 1926 the total volume was only 728,697 units, indicating that at the present rate of output the figures for last year will be passed before August gets fairly under way.

The great Chevrolet factories are running day and night to accomplish this tremendous volume and to meet the steadily growing public demand.

Hand in hand with this gigantic production schedule are new projects. Ground was recently broken for two new buildings to stabilize the facilities of the factory at Flint, Mich. A new office building and a new parts building are being erected at a cost of $2,000,000.

Engineers Suggest Jaywalker Subways

Pedestrian subways are now proposed for solution of the traffic priblem of the larger cities. In spite of the fact that control stations at intersections of city streets have relieved the accident situation to some extent, the increase in vehicular traffic has rendered necessary some lane of safety for the use of the pedestrian.

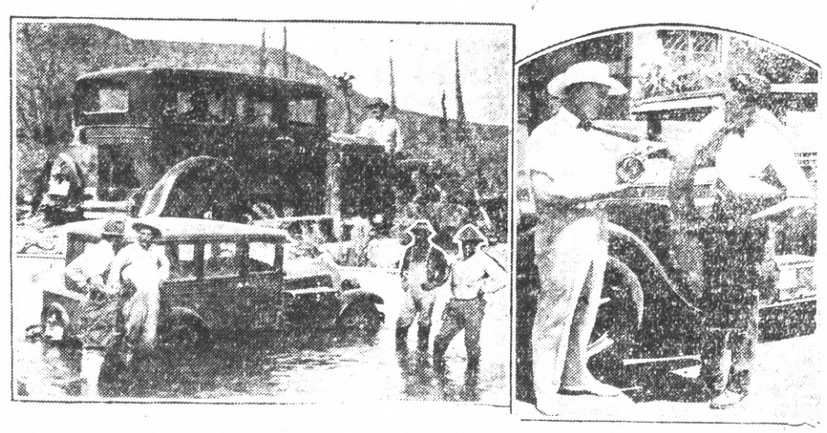

Los Angeles is already considering the installation of pedestrian subways and San Francisco has already constructed a causeway for the use of pedestrians at the Ferry building at the foot of Market street.

Just Can't Make Those Roads Too Bad

The desert roads pictured above give an idea of conditions to which the tires on the car of T. J. Rosenberg, mine owner, are subjected on each trip to his mine in Lower California. Right photo shows Western Auto Supply Company salesman pointing out the extra thickness of the Polson puncture sealing inner tube. On Rosenberg's first trip, regular style innertubes were used and he spent 45 hours applying 156 patches. With Polson tubes in his tires, punctures from cactus thorns were immediately sealed and no flat tires resulted.

Along Auto Row with Sam

Reboring the cylinders of your car can now be a one day job with the reboring tool recently installed in the shop of Harry C. Golden company, Chevrolet dealer of Richmond. The machine is clamped on top of the cylinder block, which does not have to be removed from the frame, and is set in operation in this position. An electric motor turns the eight blades which are mounted on a circular tube. With the motor running at a rate of over 1500 revolutions per minute, it takes but five minutes for the tool to rebore and polish each cylinder.

The tool is a time saver in this way, both for the shop and the owner of the car. The owner may bring in the car in the morning and drive it away in the evening with the job complete. A accurate gauge adjusts the blades to thousandths of an inch, thus facilitating the quick fitting of new pistons. The tool is made in St. Louis, and was set up by representatives of the factory.

Of 33 cars received by C. C Kratzer, local Buick dealer, but three remain in the showrooms after two weeks. The popularity of the new Buick is not difficult to account for. To begin with, it takes the eye, the new bodies being constructed on more nearly custom lines. The performance of the car, however, is the deciding factor in its favor.

As the result of the installation of the shock absorbers, built in at the factory, the car rides more easily than any previous Buick models. These "bump eliminators" are made to fit each car, according to its weight. The manufacturers assured the success of the car before putting it on the market by the use of the great General Motors proving ground near Milford, Mich.

The heat of your motor may now be read from an instrument on the dash board if the new heat indicator offered by the Western Auto company branch here is used. An electrically controlled thermometer is mounted on the dash board, and the other unit of the instrument is installed in the upper water hose of the cooling system. This second unit, the thermostat, may also be installed in the engine block. The instrument requires very little current, and makes an attractive addition to the group of instruments before the driver.

Lost Hills Route Now In Good Shape

The road from Bakersfield to Paso Robles via Lost Hills is now in splendid condition with the exception of 10 miles beyond Shandon where the road has been oiled according to a recent report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. The entire width of the road in this section has been oiled and it will be about ten days before the road will be in good driving condition. The Maricopa-Santa Maria road is also in splendid condition at the present time and carrying heavy travel. The average driving time from Maricopa to Pismo Beach is about three hours.

London Troubled By Auto Accidents

The increase in automobile accidents in the city of London has resulted in a series of conferences for the purpose of devising ways and means to make the streets safer for pedestrians as well as vehicular traffic, according to reports. More than a thousand persons were killed and 47,213 injured in London in 1926.

The erection of safety zones on the streets, traffic signs and signal lights is proposed as well as an increase in the force of traffic policemen on duty in the more congested areas.

National Safety Congress Planned

A national conference on street and highway safety will probably be called by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover this year.

The conference last year was held in Washington, D.C., but this year will probably be held in the Middle West.

Uniformity of traffic legislation as well as traffic education and accident prevention work are the important problems to be considered by the delegates at the conference this year.

Refinements In Body Design Add New Beauty To Olds

New smartness, dash and beauty have been added to Oldsmobile by refinements in body design and line and the introduction of new color combinations. These latest Oldsmobiles are now on display. Despite these latest improvements and refinements, the new lower prices recntly announced continue in effect.

The influence of engineering artistry is strikingly displayed in these latest achievements of Oldsmobile. They reflect the trend which is making the automobile, already a mechanical marvel, an outstanding example of beautiful design, decoration and color harmony.

The same basic Oldsmobile lines that have proven so popular have been retained by the designers, but by skillful refinements in curve and line additional beauty and smartness have been made strikingly apparent.

New graceful curves have enhanced the graceful contour of the rear of the body. Front corner posts on the closed cars have been narrowed, which adds to appearance and increases visibility. The new narrow corner posts have been achieved without sacrifice of strength of the composite steel and wood construction that has made Fisher bodies noted for durability.

The artistry of the designers is also apparent in the interiors where careful attention to detail has brought new smartness and luxuriousness. Duco, upholstery, fittings and design have been combined and harmonized to achieve this effect.

One of the most pleasing interior changes in the closed cars is a new type seat cushion. This is aptly named "form fitting." Instead of having a continuous upward angle, this new type cushion extends out horizontally for several inches from the seat back and then slopes on an upward angle to the outer edge. This new shape provides comfortable support for the body.

The interior finish of the closed cars include harmonizing tones in Duco on the instrument board, cowl and on door and window frames. In the landau, four-door sedan and sport coupe, this color harmony is further enchanced by finger boards, or walnut finished strips inlaid on doors and under windows. The ash and match receptacles in landau and four-door sedan are now covered with fabricoid of the same color as the Duco interior finish.

The present trend for brightness and individuality in motor cars is emphasized in the new color combinations introduced by Oldsmobile. These include on many of the sport models the use of colored Duco on trunk, fenders, dust shields and lamps. Rims of both headlights and cowl lights now are finished in chromium plating, which was introduced to the automobtive industry by Oldsmibile more than a year ago. It has been used on Oldsmobile radiator shells since that time and has proven a distinct advancement in plating due to its blue-white lustre, hardness, durability and the fact that no polishing is needed to maintain its original sheen.

The landau has as its principal color Ladoga green with reveals, or windows recesses, finished in Lorenda green. These light shades are admirably set off by black molding extending around the car and double gold stripes following the molding. Trunk, fenders, dust shields and lamps are finished in Ladoga green. Disc wheels are finished to match car. Natural wood wheels are optional.

Ridge blue is the predominating color fo the four-door sedan. The molding is set off with a double stripe of gold. Wood wheels are Ducoed to match the body finish.

The two-door sedan has a black upper structure with the lower and main portion of the body finished in Huntington green, as are the window reveals. Black molding with double gold stripes are used for contrast. Wood wheels are finished in the body color.

Tonopah Road Work Is Under Way

At the recent session of the state legislature in Nevada, means were provided for the completion of the road from Carson City to Hawthorne, Tonopah, Beatty and Las Vegas, and work west of Tonopah over the flats will be started soon.

INTEREST SEEN IN DISPLAY OF NEW OAKLAND

"It's All American," declares George Olson, local Oakland-Pontiac dealer, in commenting on the new Oakland which is setting records in the amount of interest attracted since its offering. "It is American designed, and has none of the so-called foreign qualities in its makeup. It's an all around good car."

No new model yet displayed among the 1928 offerings reveals changes more complete than does the latest Oakland. The new car has a longer wheel base, now 117 inches, a new and more powerful motor, a new chassis, seven new bodies by Fisher, new Duco colors and a host of advanced engineering features, making it one of the most interesting and talked about cars of the current season. Feminine motorists will find the improvements in body designs in the "All-American Six" just as fascinating as the mechanically minded motorist will the many chassis advancements.

AMERICAN DESIGNED

It is because the newest Oakland is an essentially American achievement following the best American engineering practice, and built to meet American operating conditions that the name of "All American" was chosen for it —a rather refreshing title in view of the over-plus of "European type" motors and "foreign body lines" which have been the fashion in the automotive world.

A single glance will suffice to note the lengthened wheelbase of

The Used Car Market Warning

To one who figures the actual cost per mile of running his car, the used car market sounds a significent warning. It shows that gas, oil, tires and repairs are the smallest part of the cost of running an automobile. The astonishing item of cost is depreciation and the only way to beat it is to keep the car in first class condition all the time. Through frequent inspection the larger bills are avoided, the resale on trade in value enhanced and the useful years of the car doubled. Useful years of service in a car is the basis of the dealers allowance.

the new car, and its long, low lines. Though there is but a height of 70 inches from the ground to the roof of the new Oakland cars, there has been no sacrifice of head room inside of the car, and a road clearance of 8½ inches has been maintained. Sweeping belt lines add to the general achievement in bringing the new cars close to the ground.

MOTOR LARGER

The new motor of the Oakland has a piston displacement of 212 cubic inches, said to be the largest of any motor in the present Oakland price range, which, incidentally, is lower than the models which just preceded. The motor is of the L-head type, and is distinguished by a new type cylinder head developed in the General Motors research laboratories, designed to eliminate detonation. Other keenly interesting departures in the new motor are a new type of harmonic balancer attached to the front end of the crank shaft, integral counterweights on the shaft itself, and the adoption of a new type of fuel pump in place of the vacuum feed system. The latter improvement is declared to be one which will eliminate all trouble from "draining the vacuum," which many motorists have experienced in driving on long hills with wide open throttle. A constant supply of fuel, automatically adjusted to the needs of the motor, is supplied by the new pump.

The famous "rubber silenced chassis design," which Oakland engineers pioneered, is, of course, continued in the new car. Both on the engine supports and through the drive rubber cushions absorb vibration and add to the smoothness of the operation of the car.

In the Oakland, motor oil, fuel and air are filtered. Air cleaner, oil filter and gasoline filter are all incorporated as part of the standard design. An especially effective method of crank case ventilation has also been worked out, combining air pressure and suction. The outlet is so shaped and located that the motion of the car keeps a draught blowing past it which draws the fumes out.

The interior of the new Fisher closed bodies reveals many interesting changes. The pillars on either side of the windshield are much narrower this year, giving a maximum clear vision for the driver. Seats are of the form-fitting type, and especial attention has been paid to securing the greatest possible comfort in their design.

Detroit Automobile Plants Add 5,000 Employes Weekly

(By Universal Service)

DETROIT, August 6.—Reports spreading throughout the United States of employment increases in Detroit have brought in hundreds of men daily, most of whom, according to present indications from the employers association of Detroit stand small chance of getting work for at least one month.

Figures given out weekly by the association indicate that from 3,000 to 5,000 men are added by plants around Detroit each week. Despite this small but steady increase this year's employment at this season of the year is over 25,000 behind last year.

Proof that many men are arriving daily may be found at any one of a score of employment agencies where long lines of men looking for work may be seen awaiting the doors to open every morning. Many of the men state that they came from long distances in the belief that the Ford Motor company was about to start big production again.

Reports from Ford's plants in Detroit indicate that the factories are still employing only about half normal number of men required when average production is going on. The same policy of laying off a few thousand in one department and putting about the same number back in another department is in force as it was one month ago.

Such plants as Hudson-Essex and Chrysler which are bringing out new models, show steady but small increases in employment as they swing into higher production owing to the demand for the new cars.

Lansing, Pontiac and Flint are going at a very fast clip, but these cities claim that there is still a reserve of men on hand looking for work.

Roe is at present employing 6,364 men, as compared with 4,816 at the same time last year.

Oldsmobile will start shortly upon a $3,000,000 expansion program announced last week. This will add to Lansing's employment total.

Buick and Chevrolet are going at record speed at Flint. The new Buick models seem to have taken a strong hold throughout the country. Repeat orders are already coming in from the larger sales centers, the factory reports.

The announcement of the new Oakland All-American Six was made just as the production got going at a fair speed in the Oakland factory at Pontiac. Reports from officials of the General Motors subsidiary are to the effect that double the present production is expected before the peak will be reached.

The new car announcements this week are the new lines of Paige cars, which are improved in many respects and the Chrysler "52".

The Chrysler prices are from $25 to $80 less than those on the "50" model which this new line displaces.

Outstanding among the features of the new Chrysler are a claimed speed of 50 miles per hour; acceleration from five to 25 miles per hour in eight seconds; exceptional roominess and riding comfort; better seating equipment, greater attention to the external beauty; and a degree of handling ease said to be of a very unusual character. The car has the same four-cylinder motor with many improvements. The "red-head" is available for this car also at a slight extra cost.

The couse will be laid out on the O. Sorrick tract which is ideally located for the intended purposes. It is planned to expend $85,000 in laying out the course and constructing the buildings.

Jap Doctor Makes Sake Without Rice

(By Universal Service)

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—Riceless sake has been invented by Dr. Tezio Takahashie of the Tokio Imperial University. Dr. Takahashi declares he has succeeded in combining 25 different chemicals to produce a brand of sake, the Japanese national intoxicant, which is equal in quality and "kick" to the kind made from rice.

If Dr. Takahashi's synthetic sake comes into general use 25,000,000 bushels of rice used annually in the production of sake will revert to the general market, with a consequent lowering of price for the nation's chief diet staple.

L. A. To Push Work On Largest Dam In The World

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Construction work is soon to begin on the largest dam in the world which Los Angeles county will erect to control the flood waters of its mountain watershed.

The sum of $25,000,000 will be spent to dissipate the flood peril which, on two occasions in the past, acused a total damage of $10,000,000 to Los Angeles and vicinity.

The proposed San Gabriel dam will be constructed at the mouth of the San Gabriel canyon, ten miles north of Azusa, in the region where gold was first discovered in California. The dam will rise to a height of 469 feet. It will be 360 feet at the base and 30 feet at the crest, and will be four and a half years in building.

The watershed in question drains an area of 200 square miles. Its exesses in the past have spread destruction over 12,000 acres when three watercourses, the San Gabriel Wash, the Rio Hondo and the Los Angeles river, usually dry, or nearly so, woke to sudden and frantic activity.

Shape Counts While Face Takes Count

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—Prospective husbands are more likely to be attracted now-a-days by symmetry of figure than by facial beauty, Dr. Wilma Churchill Wood declared at the convention of the National Progressive Chiropractors association which opened here today.

Therefore, declared Dr. Wood, the modern girl is more concerned with bodily perfection than with rosebud lips and soulful eyes, and the "sturdy oak" type of girl is replacing the "clinging vine".

A mechanical contrivance which when attached to a patient, prescribes a diet for him was exhibited at the convention.

DRAMA OF THE MOUNTAINS IS AT CALIFORNIA

J. Stuart Blackston has crowned his quarter of a century's success as a motion picture director with his production of "Hell-Bent-for-Heaven," the Warner picture opening today at the California theater. Adapted by Marian Constance Blackton from Hatcher Hughes's Pulitzer prize play for 1923, the screen version has clung close to the powerful original drama of the Carolina mountains, and has gone on to realize the spectacular possibilities that such scenes as the great flood demand.

Patsy Ruth Miller, the star, plays Jude Lowry, the mountain girl; John Harron, her sweetheart; Sd Hunt, a joyous, irresponsible hero returned from the war; Gayne Whitman, her hotheaded brother; Gardner James, the hired man who becomes a religious fanatic; James Marcus, the old grandfather, and Evelyn Selbie and Wilfred North, Sid's parents.

The story concerns the loves and hates of two families in the backwoods of the Carolina mountains, between whom an ancient feud is rekindled by the fanatical hired man.

Other features on the same program include "Felix Ducks His Duty," a Felix the Cat cartoon comedy; Fox News, Weigle's Californians, Larry Canelo at the organ, and five big acts of vaudeville.

Comedy Drama

"Rich but Honest," a William Fox picture, will be the feature screen attraction at the Richmond theater today.

"Rich but Honest," a hilarious comedy drama, adapted from the story by Arthur Somers Roche, and produced by Albert Ray, is considered one of the funniest comedy dramas produced this year. It's worth a million in laughs and has in its cast besides the screen's most loved character man, J. Farrell MacDonald, Nancy Nash, Clifford Holland and Ted McNamara. If you are looking for love, romance and a good laugh you can't beat this one for real entertainment.

Other screen features on the same program include "A Briny Boob," a Billy Dooley comedy, and a Grantland Rice "Sportlight" reel.

Coming Monday and Tuesday, Adolphe Menjou in "Evening Clothes."

Heads Theater Chain

HAROLD B. FRANKLIN, president, West Coast Theatres, Inc., who yesterday announced an extraordinary fine program of productions for motion picture fans during the 1927-28 season.

Love's Second Blooming

Alma Rubens and Walter Pidgeon, in a scene from "MARRIAGE LICENSE," which opens a two day engagement on Monday at the California theatre.

DANCING REVUE AT CALIFORNIA

Another corking show has been booked for the California theater today, with "Bud Shaffer and His Debutantes" in the headline position. This act is a speedy song and dance revue, with clever bits of comedy throughout. Splendid wardrobe and catchy tunes make this a revue of unusual class and color. Then there is Jock Stott and Company, "The Canny Scot and Wee Jimmy," a fast moving comedy offering with the little fellow handing out many a laugh to his older brother. The Lynne Sisters, daintily gowned, offer a splendid program of harmony sing that gets over with a bang, while Harold Alberto, in "Comedy Magic," will keep you screaming with his bag full of tricks and funny stunts. This act is of special interest to the children, and good for the grownups too, and then there is Ellery and Cooper, two sweet young misses, in the most unusual dancing act in vaudeville today. Their novelty stair case dance, is positively a sensation, and this clever act scores a solid hit everywhere they appear. Altogether patrons of the California may look forward to a most pleasing program for Sunday.

WEST COAST TO HOLD GREATER MOVIE SEASON

The opening of the West Coast theaters greater movie season was announced by Harold B. Franklin, president, of the West Coast theaters, Inc.

"This year, more than ever, the public will be brought to realize the tremendous advance that the art of motion picture production and presentation has made in the last twelve months.

Beginning with the third week in August, and continuing from then throughout the balance of the season of 1927-28, West Coast theaters will present the finest screen and stage entertainment that it is possible to secure.

"Listed among the productions that will either usher in the West Coast Greater Movie Season or be shown during the progress of the season are: "The Big Parade," "Beau Geste," "Ben Hur," "Chang," which will come to the regular theaters after having played extended engagements at advanced prices. In addition there will be Norma Talmadge's "Camille," "Rose of California," Clara Bow's "Hula," Lon Chaney's "Mockery," Buster Keaton's "College," Norma Shearer in "After Midnight," Raymond Hatton and Wallace Beery in "Fireman Save My Child," Billie Dove in "The Stolen Bride," Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill in "Smile Brother Smile," Harry Langdon in "Three's a Crowd," Milton Sills in "Hard Boiled Haggerty," Richard Barthelmess in "The Drop Kick," and that great team of laugh makers, Charlie Murray and George Sidney in "The Life of Riley," the Paramount production "Metropolis" with its special cast; the new Thomas Meighan picture "We're All Gamblers," Bebe Daniels' summer sports special, "Swim, Girl, Swim," in which Gertrude Ederle, the heroine of the channel swim, will make her debut; an epic of the West entitled "Nevada;" "Tell It to Sweeney," which will mark the debut of Chester Conklin and George Bancroft as co-stars; the first American-made Emil Jannings production "The Way of All Flesh"; Lillian Gish in "Annie Laurie," Eleanor Boardman in "The Crowd," John Gilbert in "The Cossacks," and the picturization of that famous light operetta "Rose-Marie." These are but a few of the really worth-while pictures that are included for the new season.

HEART TROUBLE
Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicans whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonal to the Fong Wan Herb Co.:

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG WAN HERBS

Stockton, Cal., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

mayor's wife and two children were thrown from their beds and badly shaken up.

WINDOWS BROKEN

A big hole was torn in the Emanuel Presbyterian church and all the windows for blocks around were shattered.

State officials in Albany declared today that if there are any further bombings in New York the state militia will be called out to aid the police.

In Chicago 20 secret service men have been thrown about the Federal building with instructions to shoot first and ask questions later in case of a demonstration.

MAILS GUARDED

In Cleveland the United States Marines will guard federal buildings after Monday and most of the government employes will be armed until after Sacco and Vanzetti are executed.

The Philadelphia police received a blanket order today to guard all public buildings and to keep all the known radicals in the city under constant surveillance over the week end.

The precautions in Boston are probably the most thorough of all. Track walkers patrol the subway and elevated lines there in addition to the officers at all stations and public buildings and an extra guard has been placed over the condemned men at the state prison.

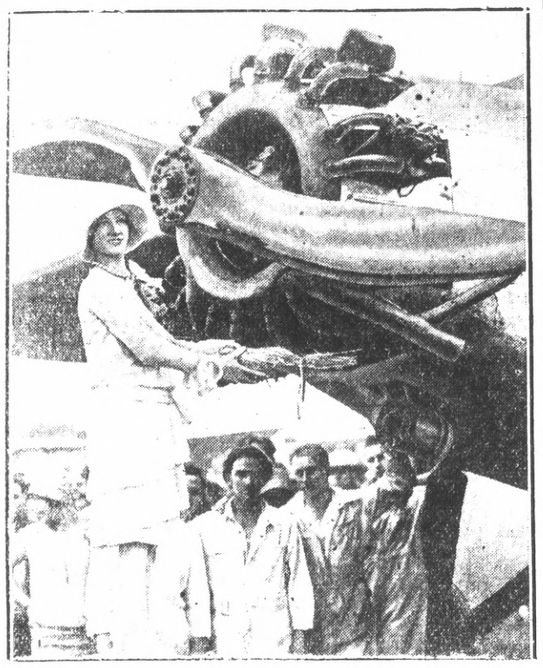

Wall street, the New York financial district, is tonight under the heaviest guard in its history. The Wall street explosion of six years ago is still fresh in the memory of bankers there and they are taking no chances with the radical element that has sworn war against capitalism.

SHOOT FIRST

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—With orders to "shoot first and question after," twenty secret service operatives were ordered to guard the Federal building here today from any possible demonstration by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers.

While no trouble is anticipated by government officials, the precaution was taken to preclude any outbreak. A report that a threat to bomb the postoffice, housed in dreds of employes in corporations the radicals in Chicago covered," of which he was either president he added.

the Federal building, had been received, was denied.

"GOD HELP BOMBERS"

All persons found loitering about or in the building will be promptly questioned. The guard was established, Charles Engel, federal building custodian added, because of the outrages committed in the East following the refusal of Governor Fuller of Massachusetts to give Sacco and Vanzetti a further stay of execution.

"If they try any of that stuff, God help them," was the response of Chief of Detectives William E. O'Connor to various reports that bombings similar to the outrages in New York and Baltimore would be attempted here. "We have all

RIBBON FOR HATS

The large black hat of hair or straw may be trimmed so as to better harmonize with the various colors of one's frocks by using several narrow ribbons of various colors shirred and joined together to form the crown band.

One large black hair shape uses purple, rose, green and yellow ribbon of narrow width joined together. This makes a band sufficiently wide so that it may be used half on the crown and half on the brim.

16 AIRPLANES LINED UP FOR "DOLE FLIGHT"

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Fifteen airplanes are expected to hop off August 12, to find a palm tree in the middle of the Pacific ocean. This isn't an attempt to belittle the Hawaiian islands, but an attempt in a few words to prove what a difficult task confronts both pilots and navigators in finding so small a spot in the largest ocean known to mankind.

TWO PRIZES

The first aviator to land his plane on the island of Oahu will receive a prize of $25,000 and the second aviator to complete the hop will be enriched by $10,000.

After a series of mishaps during their flight from Oklahoma Lieuts. Bennet Griffin and Al Henley planned to take off from Clover field, Santa Monica, today and were expected here late today.

STUNT FLYER DUE

Arthur C. Goebel, stunt flyer who also expected to be in the air derby, is thought to be on his way here from Bartlesville, Okla. and preparations were being made to meet him. A third plane, that piloted by Auggy Pedlar of Flint, Mich., was also expected late today from Mendota, Calif., where it was forced down yesterday because of a faulty spark plug, it was reported.

Two planes now at San Diego, one of them the "Golden Eagle" entered by the San Francisco Examiner and to be piloted by Jack Frost, are expected to arrive here Sunday.

PLANE DELAYED

Another plane, to be piloted by George Covell, will not be under way here from San Diego for two days. The delay was caused by needed repairs.

Other pilots are keeping their arrivals here secret and those who are during up their planes here are not giving out definite plans.

Out of the 15 planes already entered it seemed likely today that not more than nine would eventually start the race.

Among those who have announced their intention of making the flight are:

LINEUPS

Major Living Irving, Berkeley Breeze monoplane.
Arthur C. Goebel, Santa Monica Travelair monoplane.
John Auggy Pedlar, Flint, Mich. Buhl monoplane.

Clearlake Great For Kiddies

Of course you've heard about the great, big offer which the Richmond Record-Herald is making to all its subscribers—old and new! It's something that the entire family can take advantage of. It means good times for all, not forgetting the kiddies and their love of the outdoor pleasures and pastimes. Clearlake Oaks, situated in the most picturesque section of Lake county—that's the place we're speaking of. And right now you can pick out your own—your very, very own homesite there at such a low price that certainly you can't say "I can't afford it." Because matters are also arranged so that you can pay it off at $5 a month, with no interest charged you. And this very newspaper has arranged all this for you. All you must do is subscribe for six months, or renew your present subscription.

We know that words are vain in describing lovely countrysides and the natural wonders of the outdoors. It's always better to SEE a place of enchanting beauty, such as Clearlake Oaks than to hear about it. But just to whet your appetite, we don't mind telling you that the great lake is of itself over 25 miles in length, with six miles of clean beach that it is every homesite owner's privilege to use and enjoy; that there is fishing, swimming, bathing, boating, surf-riding, and charming drives along smooth roads, with hotel accommodation and excellent living conditions all within easy reach. A dance pavilion, too, so that you never have to go without this exhilirating exercise.

Very soon Clearlake Oaks will be the vacationland—the most popular vacationland in Northern California. In fact, close by are Harbin Springs, Bartlett Springs, Adams Springs, Geysers, Glenbrook, Siegler Springs and the much-sought-after Russian River Resorts.

Once you sense the enchantment of Clearlake Oaks and the desirability of a Summer retreat there—a homesite where you and all the rest of the family can go week-ends and all Summer, you won't be happy until you get in on the big proposition which the Richmond Record-Herald makes to you. Find the coupon on page 5 and send it in today for more information, or , better still, call at our office right away! Only 500 homesites reserved for Record-Herald readers!

Good Record Is Shown By Local Library Staff

Although the circulation of books in the Richmond Public library was in excess of other libraries in a recent survey, the local library stands first in class with low cost per capita for expenditures and first with low expenditures for salaries to its smaller staff.

The survey included libraries of cities ranging in population from 15,000 to 50,000. The figures were for the fiscal year 1925-26.

An excerpt from the letter of H. L. Wheeler, chairman of the survey, says:

"You are indeed to be congratulated upon such a record as your figures show. Here are three rousing cheers for you, and may your good record continue."

The Richmond people are readers, for nearly one-half of them are users of the library, and the books they borrowed last fiscal year amount to about 12 books per capita for the entire population of Richmond.

The circulation for the fiscal year just closed was distributed as follows:

Main library	219,656
West Side branch	24,106
Stege branch	13,060
Grant branch	928
School collection	70,464
Total	328,214

P. G. E. HEAD IS CALLED BY DEATH

dreds of employes in corporations of which he wae either president or a director.

Creed's name first became linked with Contra Costa county with his marriage to a daughter of C. A. Hooper, wealthy land owner.

As president of the Columbia Steel company, which has its mammoth plant at Pittsburg, Creed had an absorbing interest in the welfare of the county. The C. A. Hooper interests, which he also directed, bid further for expenditure of his talents in Contra Costa.

Creed began life in a humble capacity. There are many of the older newspapermen about the bay district who recall his employment on an Oakland newspaper. With his admittance to the bar he specialized in corporation law and his ability soon attracted attention and brought reward in his selection to pilot the destinies of several of the state's largest industrial and public utility concerns.

Arrangements for his funeral are pending.
